

Fort Lauderdale International Film Festival Offers Perks to Volunteers

38th annual film festival November 3-12 offers unique opportunities to gain valuable experience, see films and meet the filmmakers and talent

The Fort Lauderdale International Film Festival (FLIFF) is seeking volunteers for its 38th annual festival, taking place November 3-12. Featuring nearly 200 films from 40 countries, filmmakers from around the globe and festive parties, the festival offers opportunities for volunteers to gain experience, see films and meet filmmakers and talent. And, since FLIFF is a 501(c)(3) not-for-profit organization, students can receive community service hours.

Volunteers are needed to assist in a wide variety of positions, including in the office, at theaters, at over-the-top parties, in marketing, as drivers, and in many other capacities. Whether you're a professional, a retiree, or a student, volunteers will find they'll work with a great team of people. Although FLIFF volunteers work hard, during their time off they can see some of the top new films, hobnob with talent, and develop new friendships.

On Tuesday, September 12th, prospective volunteers are invited to learn about the various opportunities, meet the staff, enjoy a pizza, and view a sneak peek at one of the films that will be screened at the festival. Beginning at 6 pm at Savor Cinema, 503 SE 6th Street, Fort Lauderdale. Free parking is available in the garage on SE 5th Ave, on the west side of the theater. If you are interested in volunteering, register at <https://fliff.com/vols/>

The 38th Edition of the Fort Lauderdale International Film Festival takes place from November 3rd through November 12th, 2023. Named one of the top destination film festivals in the nation by Moviemaker Magazine, FLIFF brings audiences together with film talent from around the globe to celebrate American Independent and International Cinema.
